

We are Shook.

The world's leading companies turn to Shook to obtain favorable results under the most contentious circumstances.

Shook is widely recognized as one of the premier litigation defense firms in the country. For more than a century, the firm has defended clients in some of the most substantial national and international litigation.

More than 90% of our attorneys are litigators, and many have advanced degrees in health and sciences fields. The firm has represented leading international companies in a variety of industries, including technology, chemicals and automotive, pharmaceutical and medical devices and tobacco.

Shook has represented nearly three-quarters of the Fortune 100. Our clients include global industry leaders who demand proven legal strategies. Whether resolving cases through aggressive discovery, pretrial motions, alternative dispute resolution, or obtaining victories at trial or on appeal, the firm has established a reputation for getting the job done.
